1903 (the first) edition, illustrated

The Call of the Wild is a adventure novel by Jack London published in 1903 and set in Yukon during the Klondike Gold Rush.

The central character of the novel is a dog named Buck, who is stolen from his home and sold into service as a sled dog in Alaska. He becomes feral in the harsh environment, where he is forced to fight to survive and dominate other dogs. By the end, he sheds the veneer of civilization, and relies on primordial instinct and learned experience to emerge as a leader in the wild.

The book's great popularity and success made a reputation for London; much of its appeal derives from its simplicity as a tale of survival. As early as 1923, the story was adapted to film, and it has since seen several more movie adaptations.
